MozUp Showcased at MMEC 2025

MozUp participated in the Mozambique Mining and Energy Conference (MMEC) 2025, held on May 7–8 at the Joaquim Chissano Conference Center in Maputo- a premier gathering of key stakeholders driving the future of Mozambique's energy and extractive industries.

The event opened with an inspiring address from His Excellency Daniel Francisco Chapo, President of the Republic of Mozambique, who underscored the nation's bold vision for transformation, industrialization, and sustainable growth. His remarks emphasized the critical role of strategic partnerships in unlocking the potential of natural resources to fuel inclusive economic development and regional integration.

MozUp's presence at the conference extended beyond attendance. It hosted an Small and Medium Enterprises (SME) Showcase Stand, providing a platform for six exceptional local suppliers, all selected through its Supplier Management Portal to exhibit their capabilities free-of-charge. These standout SMEs included: Afrigotel – Armazenagem Frigorífica, SA, Kiki Catering, Lda, PRF Gás de Moçambique, Lda, RadX Construction, Lda, Técnica Engenheiros Consultores, Lda, and RosConsult, Lda.

This initiative provided businesses with an invaluable opportunity to connect directly with industry leaders, explore new partnerships, and increase visibility within the mining and energy value chains. By creating space for meaningful engagement between local enterprises and major sector players, MozUp continues to foster inclusive growth, supplier development, and long-term collaboration in Mozambique's energy future.

ISO Certification in Maputo and Pemba

As part of MozUp's ongoing commitment to improving safety, quality, and operational performance among local businesses, four standout participants from the SSHE (Safety, Security, Health, and Environment) Management Systems Training and Mentoring Program in Maputo and Pemba advanced to the ISO certification program.

This next phase supports certification in ISO 9001:2015 (Quality Management) and ISO 45001:2018 (Occupational Health and Safety Management).

Two businesses, Edil Pemba, Lda, a construction and architecture firm in Cabo Delgado, and Ping Serviços, Lda, an IT and electronics service provider in Maputo, have successfully achieved ISO 9001:2015 certification, affirming their commitment to quality and customer satisfaction. The remaining two companies are in the final stages of ISO 45001:2018 certification.

ISO certification significantly boosts a company's credibility, competitiveness, and ability to collaborate with international partners, particularly in sectors such as Oil & Gas.

Since MozUp's launch, 11 local businesses have attained certification in ISO 9001, ISO 45001, or ISO 22000, reflecting the impact of capacity-building efforts and alignment with global standards.

Strengthening Women's Role in Clean Energy

MozUp proudly participated in the Graça Machel Trust's Women in Clean Energy and Climate Action Summit, held on June 11 and 12, 2025, at the Polana Serena Hotel and Eduardo Mondlane University in Maputo. The summit brought together stakeholders committed to accelerating women's leadership and innovation in Mozambique's energy transition.

Organized by Graça Machel Trust and supported by the Mozambique Women in Energy Network (MWE), a key MozUp partner, the event was supported by the Foundation for Community Development (FCD), UN Women, and Eduardo Mondlane University. The two-day gathering served as a platform to promote collaboration, equity, and systemic change in the country's energy and climate action sectors.

MozUp's active presence was highlighted through the contribution of Djamila Carvalho, MozUp Manager, who participated as a panelist in a session focused on Women's Participation in the Energy Sector. During her intervention, she shared insights into MozUp's programs and initiatives, emphasizing the opportunities available for women-owned businesses within the energy value chain.

The Summit showcased women in energy businesses and initiatives for access to financing and its central theme underscored the urgent need for women to play full and equal roles in the energy sector, not only as consumers, but as entrepreneurs, investors, decision-makers, and innovators.

Mozup Launches Self-Diagnostic Tool

MozUp recently introduced its free Self-Diagnostic Tool — a powerful resource designed to help small and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs) take charge of their growth and success. This easy-to-use tool enables businesses to quickly assess their readiness across crucial areas such as management, operations, and legal compliance.

With a simple yes-or-no format, the tool is accessible to businesses at any stage, no technical support needed. Instant results offer tailored recommendations, helping businesses spot internal gaps and prioritize the improvements that matter most.

Why is this a potential game-changer? Because knowledge is power. MozUp's Self-Diagnostic Tool puts that power directly in the hands of business, empowering SMEs to identify strengths, address weaknesses, and make smarter, more informed decisions.

By highlighting gaps and opportunities, this new tool provides an accessible and easy-to-use starting point for strategic planning and capacity-building. Whether looking to streamline operations, ensure compliance, or scale sustainably, MozUp's Self-Diagnostic Tool provides a valuable first step toward building a stronger, more competitive business.
